

The Learning Process

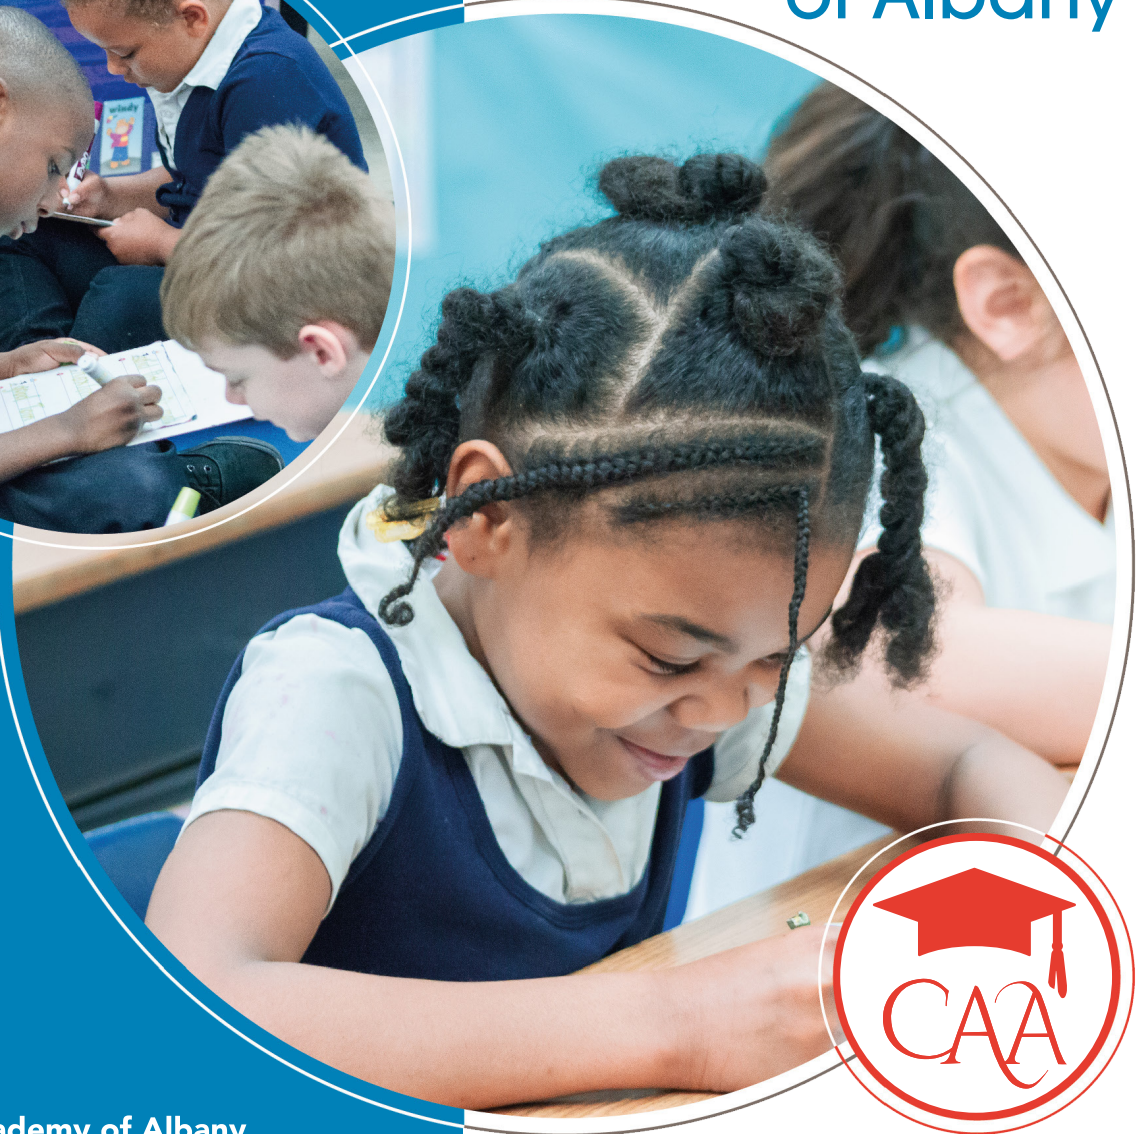

CAA, like all other SABIS® schools, will use a unique learning process to ensure every child excels, including:

- Nonselective admissions policy
- Comprehensive and dynamic curriculum that is continually updated
- Unique point system of teaching the objectives contained in the syllabus
- Proprietary, computerized system of testing designed to monitor student learning and progress
- High levels of accountability for students, teachers, and administrators

CAA will use a computerized monitoring system to detect gaps in knowledge so administrators can closely follow students' progress. Gaps are pinpointed as soon as they form, and the students' efforts are focused on eliminating them. Valuable time is saved, and a gap-free, cohesive foundation of knowledge is built in students' minds.

A Tuition-Free,
Public Charter School

Our Academics

The Collegiate Academy of Albany (CAA) is a new tuition-free, public charter school to serve the Albany/Dougherty County region. CAA will provide students with the opportunity to develop a solid academic foundation and a better understanding of human nature, while instilling a deeper understanding of the world around them.

CAA students will learn in a safe, disciplined environment that is conducive to learning. All individuals – administrators, teachers, and students – are held accountable for maintaining high standards of behavior and accountability.

Our Approach to Education

At CAA, we believe that:

- All students should be prepared for college and a life of continuous learning.
- All students should be empowered to reach their full potential and make informed life decisions.
- All students should grow in confidence and self-esteem.
- The maximum possible “value” should be added to all aspects of each student’s education.
- All students should be encouraged to become well-rounded citizens, who contribute to their communities.

Our Story

The school is a proposed future member of the SABIS® Network, which includes high-performing charter and private schools currently educating more than 70,000 students in 20 countries on 5 continents. Each school within the SABIS® Network is modeled on a rigorous, college-preparatory system of education that has achieved a solid record of success in closing achievement gaps for the students most at risk of being left behind. If approved by the State Charter School Commission, CAA will open fall of 2020 and deliver an excellent educational experience in a safe and clean facility to students in grades K-3, and expand annually until reaching grades K-12. CAA will have a rigorous curriculum based on world-class standards tailored and aligned to meet the Georgia and Common Core Content standards.
